THE FUTURE OF THE UTILITY SECTOR

Dear colleagues and friends,

Are you ready to shape the future of utility services? We are announcing the upcoming conference on "The Future of the Utility Sector."

Imagine a place where innovations in waste management, water supply, and public services become a reality, solutions meet the true needs of the community, and every discussion opens up new opportunities to improve the quality of life for all citizens. That place is right here, and we want you to be a part of it!

Join us from June 11 to 13, 2025, in Ohrid, where experts from the field will share their successful practices and completed projects.

To ensure a high-quality experience and meaningful contributions from all participants (listeners, sponsors, and companies interested in participating in the technical exhibition), we encourage you to allocate the necessary financial resources in your budget.

We believe this investment will bring you long-term benefits.

More detailed information on the topics and participation in the technical exhibition will follow soon.
